Fourth Quarter – Nov. 2015

President’s Message

Fellow Scots:

The Annual General Meeting (AGM) was held via webinar on Saturday September 26, and attended by 30 members. The meeting was a 60 minute emersion in Clan Blair and Scottish history. Oregon Commissioner Bill Blair presented a special report on the Blair family history in Scotland and Ireland that was extraordinary. Clan Vice President Shawn Blair presented array of Scottish holidays and celebrations, and the annual business meeting was reported for members.

In addition, the fall is a busy time for CBS state clans. Festivals and Scottish games are attended all over the country and this newsletter reports on many of these events. Our editor has done her best to capture the fun, fellowship and heritage we have shared with each other.

Under the leadership of Membership Chair Charlie Diman, our membership remains strong at 232 paid members – Hazzah! Charlie has done a splendid job of growing our membership and we send our thanks. In 2016, we will restructure the Membership Chair job to share a few of the current duties. If you are willing to mail materials, track membership payments or help keep the data base current, please contact Charlie or me.

You are now receiving your annual notice to renew your membership by Jan. 1, 2016. Please see page 3 for details.

During the past 3 years, CBS has presented history and subjects of interest on a 3 times/per year basis. All have been recorded and are available to members on the www.clanblair.org website (members only section). Please be sure to review these presentations at your convenience – it is truly a growing library of information.

We continue to seek a member to oversee the CBS library. This is an important position that oversees the library inventory and provides leadership to the processes for use of the materials. Please contact me with your interest.

Dr. Bill Blair has announced his intent to retire as Northern California Commissioner. Bill has served in this role for many years, following his tour a CBS President and a CBS Founder. Please share your thanks for long service with Bill. His email address is bbblair@comcast.net.

I look forward to your questions and ideas.

It is a Great Day to be a Scot - Sláinte!

Hello from Bellerose Manor, NY!

I hope everyone is enjoying the Fall weather. The holidays will be upon us before we know it.

This year I attended the 55th Long Island Scottish Games at Westbury Gardens here on Long Island. They have a new name: Long Island Scottish Festival and Highland Games INC. They are now incorporated. Congratulations to them. Their web site is WWW.LISCOTS.ORG.

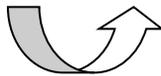

The Games were held August 21st. The weather was beautiful. At opening ceremonies, Abigail Hawk sang the National Anthem. When she sang, you could have heard a pin drop. She had such a beautiful voice. The day was filled with games and entertainment: The 42nd Royal Highland Regiment A Foot were there. The Black Watch had a tent there. The Ye Pyrate Brotherhood were there to entertain. There was a little jousting for the kids. There was a Cultural Tent, where you could learn an introduction to the bagpipes, storytelling for the kids, and a kilt-making demonstration. Author Jason Fonseca, who wrote "GREAT SCOTS", was present. On the big stage, the NY Celtic Dancers, Mactalla Mor, Ryan Irish Dancer, and Shot of Scotch dancers entertained.

More games for children were the caber toss, races, pony rides, and face painting. Of course, there was the tossing of the caber and the tossing of the sheaf for the big strong guys and women.

Members of the 79th Infantry Regiment of the Civil War also attended the Games. One of them is Terry Hunt, author of "Long Island and The Civil War". I had bought a copy when it first came out, very good. I still say I should show up in a Civil War skirt which was made from the Clans' twill tartan. It came out beautifully and when I wear it I get questions about the tartan. So, I talk about Clan Blair basically all year long. I will be wearing it marching in the Remembrance Day Parade in Gettysburg this year.

Happy Holidays and a Happy Healthy New Year to All

THE BLAIR-COCHRANE CONNECTION

Submitted by Helen Blair

The name Cochrane originates from the "five-merk" lands of Coueran, Cochrane, near Paisley in Renfrewshire though some suggest that some MacEacherns who removed to the Lowlands adopted the name Cochrane as a means of concealing their origins. Its affinity to the Irish Corcoran is also suggestive of a link. The first Cochrane recorded in Scotland was one Waldeve de Coveran who witnessed a charter in favour of the 5th Earl of Menteith in 1262. In 1456, Robert Cochrane of Cochrane resigned the lands of Cochrane to his successor, Allan who received a charter of them from James II. Edward Cochrane (perhaps of this family) was declared innocent of having any part in the detention of King James III in Edinburgh Castle in 1482. The last Cochrane of that ilk left only a daughter, Elizabeth who married

Blair who took his wife's name and estates. Their son Sir William Cochrane was created 1st Earl of Dundonald in 1669. After the death of the 7th Earl the descendants of Sir William's second son became the Earls. Thomas, the 10th Earl (1775-1860) was the most celebrated chief of the Cochranes and is generally known as Lord Cochrane. He joined the navy at 18 years and became famous when in command of a brig he captured a Spanish frigate, whose crew outnumbered his by six-to-one, with 32 heavy guns. He followed this feat by defending Trinidad Castle against the French in 1808. He was returned to Parliament and was outspoken on the Admiralty and the commander-in-chief. He was deprived of his position and seat in government when he was prosecuted wrongly for fraud. In 1817 the Chileans invited him to command their navy in the attempt to secure independence which he succeeded in doing. He followed by helping the Brazilians and the Greeks against the Turks. He was at last reinstated and in 1854 was made Rear Admiral. He also promoted the use of steam propelled warships while his continued attacks on the incompetence and navy hierarchy led to far-reaching reforms. Dundonald Castle in Kyle built by the Stewarts in the 12th century was bought by the Cochranes in the 17th century. The Cochrane tartan was officially approved by the 14th Earl of Dundonald and Chief of the Cochranes, which removed the earlier doubts that the sett was incorrect.

The Blair-Scott Connection

Letter from Sir Walter Scott to Hugh Scott of Harden, 30 Dec 1828

Editor of Blair Bruidhinn from Jack Blair of Perthshire, Oct 2006, jj_blair@tiscali.co.uk

Allen,

I mentioned in a previous paper that Dominique Marie François Rene Galouzeau de Villepin, the Prime minister of France, traces his lineage from Alexander Blair (1563c- 1615c), a younger son of Alexander Blair of Balthayock and his first wife Janet Ogilvy. Through exchange of information with Patrick de Villepin, their family historian, I have been able to amend and add to the book "The Blairs of Balthayock and their Cadets" under the section "Blair Family in France."

Patrick raised a question regarding the relationship between Sir Walter Scott and the Blairs of Balthayock, as one of his forebears learned there was a link. Researching that, I discovered that in 1828 Monsr. Dommartin had written from France to his friend Hugh Scott of Harden in respect of his Blair forebears. Hugh Scott raised this with his famous kinsman, Sir Walter Scott of Abbotsford. This resulted in the reply written on 30 December 1828.

Therein, Sir Walter draws on the work of Sir Robert Douglas and thus encounters the errors made in "The Scottish Baronage" where Douglas was unaware of the first marriage of Alexander Blair of Balthayock and several sons from it. The "Baronage" thus produced an erroneous family tree based solely on the youngest sons by the second marriage, which leads to Scott noting differences between the "Baronage" and the French version.

Scott starts by debating the origins of the family, suggests that it may have derived from Blair in Fife and notes that there was a family association with Constantine of Lochores back in the 13th century. I would dispute that geographic link but in the "Balthayock" book, I had noted the Constantine link. I have a hypothesis, yet to expound, which may explain the Blair / Constantine relationship through the Earl Waldeve. (Will leave that for another day).

At the end of his letter, Sir Walter Scott suddenly reveals that there was a close family link between his and the Blair of Balthayock family. It would seem that his mother knew the relationship but so far, I have not discovered the actual link.

Those on the Clan Blair Society visit to Scotland in 2006 will recall that they visited Abbotsford and may even have seen there the desk at which Sir Walter Scott penned the letter on the Blairs of Balthayock.

Letter from Sir Walter Scott to Hugh Scott of Harden:

My Dear Sir, 30 Dec 1828,

A much slighter motive than a wish to obey your commands and oblige a friend of yours will at any time involve me in such a genealogical enquiry as you desire me to make respecting the families of the Blairs; so I send a few observations, which may be authenticated by further genealogical researches should Monsr. Dommartin require such to be made.

The word Blair signifies originally Battle or rather field of Battle and many places in Scotland are so called. These like other local designations were assumed by the person who lived there and thus became by degrees converted into family surnames. But the numerous families named Blair are generally derived by Genealogists from one or other of two families namely either from Blair of Blair in Ayrshire or from that of Blair of Balthayock in Perthshire, Angus, and the North of Scotland.

These two families had each a number of collateral relations and descendants who owned them for their Chiefs but they disputed violently with each other which of them ought to be acknowledged as the Chief of the whole tribe of Blair.

As these two families had subsisted independently of each other for so many generations there was no means of establishing which House was the more honorable or ancient so that James VI at length decided the controversy by directing that the age of the Representatives of Blair of Blair and Blair of Balthayock should determine the precedence for the time.

It appears that the branch of the family from which Monsr Dommartin descends comes from the family of Balthayock. This family seems to have attained distinction about the year 1214. I suspect from circumstances that the Blair from which this family took their surname was Blair in Kinrossshire called Blair-Adam including another property also called Blair, the name of Blair or Battle given to this domain was from the attack of the Caledonians upon the Ninth Legion, which they nearly destroyed.

Great part of the action was fought on Lochore (now the property of my daughter-in-law and son) and in confirmation of supporting this to have been the original seat of the Blairs, I observe that Constantine de Lochore was nearly connected with the family. But whether the Blairs derived their name from that identical place or from another of the same name they became Lairds of Balthayock about 1393 and made ever after a distinguished figure under that title.

The whole genealogy of the race may be found in Douglass's Scottish Baronage which is our only authority or nearly so upon such subjects, that author gives from the archives of the family of Balthayock the following account of the origin of the families who occur in France. Alexander Blair of Balthayock succeeded to the Lands and Barony of Balthayock in 1568. He married Elizabeth daughter of Sir Laurence Mercer of Aldie (a family of distinction) by whom according to Douglas, had three sons, Laurence, Thomas and Patrick.

The first Laurence succeeded to his Father's estate. The Third Patrick was the ancestor of the Blairs of Pittendreich and other families, the passage concerning the second Thomas: I copy at length

"Second Thomas who went to France in the reign of James VI of Scotland where he settled and married a Lady of rank and distinction whose posterity have flourished with lustre in that Kingdom ever since and of whom are descended several families which now make a considerable figure. – One settled at Bearn whose representative is an officer in the army and was in the regiment of Fitz James, another is settled at Mentz whose representative is now a counsellor of that town and hath several brothers officers of rank in the army, and Mr De Blair, representative of a third branch settled at Paris is now Master of Requests and Intendant of Alsace. – They all retain the name of Blair and have been allied by marriage with the most considerable families in France, viz the de Gesvres, de la Rochefoucault, Viscount de Aigremont, Baron de Novailles, The Counts de Champignelle, de Brimont, des Gilbert, de Jolly, des Fleury, etc."

Monsr. Dommartin will thus see that the Scottish genealogist concurs with the officers who drew up the Lettres of Noblesse except in one particular that Douglas the authority above quoted who drew up the account from family papers calls the Emigrant who settled the French Blair in France by the name of Thomas whereas the Lettres de Noblesse give him another name Alexander I think .

– It is impossible to decide which is the right name without a search into the family papers which I have no access to if I had leisure for such an investigation. Your correspondent may be assured that the Blairs of Balthayock have always been a distinguished House of great antiquity. Both families of Blair have now passed into the female branch of Blair of Blair, represented by a younger branch of Scott of Mallenie by which transition you and I at least will not allow that they have diminished their Gentry.

As for Blair of Balthayock, I observe Margaret an Heiress succeeded to the estate in 1723 married David Drummond who assumed. Their Son John Blair married Patricia Stephens who survived Him. They had a son David who was an officer. I should be able to say something about the present condition of the family being in indescribable manner cousin of the Blairs of Balthayock.

We always visited, wore mourning for each other intimate births and deaths as the custom amongst Scotch cousins but since my poor Mother's death these things have been forgotten and I do not know the present state of the Balthayock family. The ancient inheritance is beautifully seated on the Tay near Perth.

If Monsr. Dommartin should wish to know the existing state of the family nothing could be easier for me than to satisfy him. I need not say my dear friend how happy I am to obey your [wishes] on all occasions. Being with the most sincere regard and affection your very faithful kinsman and obedient servant,

WALTER SCOTT, ABBOTSFORD, 30
December [1828] [Polwarth]

High Commissioner's Report

Submitted by Curtis Blair

This year 23 games were reported along with other activities including Burns Suppers, Kirk'n O' The Tartan, and Tartan Days. The games' total 5 games more than last year. Good Job!

A question was asked, "Is OK to attend other non-Blair functions?" I am of the mindset that any time the Blair Clan can be represented by all means please do so!

Membership Initiative:

This next year we would like to see our membership numbers increase. As of September, we have 232 members (169 Annual, 57 Life, and 6 Honorary.) That is 10 less than last year.

Below are a few things I thought would be good reminders to help us pick up our membership:

1. In our tents, have a guest sheet available, contact those who sign it.
2. Display historical or other documents. William Blair from Oregon has some great ideas along with PDF's you can have printed up for your displays to make your tents more interesting.
3. Take advantage of what we have available in the library - post historical papers etc.
4. Possibly find things that can be played with or touched for a tactile experience.
5. Have drinks or snacks available.
6. Contact your membership and make them aware of needs of the Clan.
7. Show personal interest in members and contact them about the gatherings. Personal contact is the best way to keep and gain membership.
8. Maybe there are family members you haven't thought of that you could invite. Possibly you could pay their first year's membership to get them going.

If you have any ideas regarding ways to increase membership please forward them on to me. I would love to hear from you.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA COMMISSIONERS REPORT

Frances Holt, Vicky Bartlett, Bryan & Jamie Blair

During 2015, we participated in two Highland games. The first was the Scottish Fest in Costa Mesa on May 23 & 24, Memorial Day Weekend. Although our number of visitors seemed light at this event, we enjoyed visits with member Tom Blair of Pahoa, Hawaii, and other visitors interested in the name and/or family Blair: Dan Blair, Jennifer Blair of Ramona and Francis Locklin of Simi Valley.

Our second event was the Seaside Games in Ventura on October 10 & 11, Columbus Day Weekend. During this event, our event was well visited and we welcomed new members Russell McCrary and Elena Sotelo-McCrary of San Ramon, who had had a nice visit with Dr. William Blair at the Pleasanton Games in September. Visitors included several interested in information of the Blair family history: Dave Daniels with son Mariah, Ray Provence and previous member Maureen Blair of Santa Paula.

Bryan and Jamie brought their micro piglet Rosie again to both of the weekends. Rosie was very well behaved and enjoyed meeting guests, when she wasn't busy eating the clover and grass at our tent site.

ARIZONA REPORT

Arizona Commissioner Helen Blair
Az_blair@cox.net

James and Tina Blair, 9-3-2015

Friends and family of CBS member #813, James Allan Blair, were on hand to witness and celebrate his promotion to Fire Captain in the Gila Indian River Community Indian Fire Department. Bagpipes and our Clan Blair banner made an appearance in the ceremony that was a blend of the fire department growth and history and the rich heritage of the Tohono O’odham Tribe, highlights included a Native blessing ceremony. James’ uncle, William N. Blair, USN retired, was the keynote speaker. James career since he joined the Gila River Fire Academy class of 1999 included; Driver Operator- Engineer, Incident Safety Officer, Hazardous Materials Technician, Instructor for Fire Service and Hazardous Materials programs for both the state and GRFD plus volunteering in youth fire safety courses and youth cadet programs. James was instrumental in the department’s ability to successfully obtain International Fire Service Accreditation Councils National Accreditation making GRFD the first Native American fire department in the US to receive this distinction. We want to thank James for his dedication and service at protecting and supporting this 600 square mile community.

As this year comes to a close I want to thank family and members for their contribution at keeping a Blair presence at the Arizona Games. I will be taking over the helm again starting with Arizona’s first highland games of 2016 that will be held March 19-20th. It will be held at Steel Indian School Park in Phoenix, Arizona. We will be setting up 4 tents to accommodate our Blair display and genealogy books and to also include a memorial service for Bob Blair to celebrate his life. I will be obtaining group discount admission tickets. Game information www.arizonascots.org

Happy Hogmanay and I hope everyone has to opportunity to attend a Robert Burns Dinner in your area in January. - Helen

Three men, 1 Irish, 1 English and 1 Scotch, are walking along the beach one day and come across a lantern and a Genie pops out of it. "I give you each one wish, that's three wishes in total", says the Genie.

The Irish guy says, "I am a fisherman, my Dad's a fisherman, his Dad was a fisherman and my son will be one too. I want all the oceans full of fish for all eternity." So, with a blink of the Genie's eye "AlKaZoom" the oceans were teeming with fish.

The English guy was amazed, so he said, "I want a wall around England, protecting her, so that nothing will get in for all eternity. Again, with a blink of the Genie's eye "AlKaZoom - POOF" there was a huge wall around England.

The Scot asks, "I'm very curious. Please tell me more about this wall." The Genie explains, "Well, it's about 150 feet high, 50 feet thick, protecting England so that nothing can get in or out." The Scot says, "Ach, fill it up with water."

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA REPORT

Commissioner Bill Blair, 9-15

This weekend I hosted Northern California Clan Blair Tent at the large Scottish Games and gathering held in Pleasanton, CA at the Alameda County Fairgrounds. It was a lot of fun and I enjoyed it a lot. We had quite a few visitors to the tent and I am hopeful a couple of them will join.

I write to let you know that the time has come for me to retire as Northern California Commissioner. It's been fun and I would love to do it forever, but I am 90 and ½ now and slowed down by osteo arthritis especially in my knees. Despite total knee replacements it has really slowed me down and I am again having considerable difficulty with one knee.
